A GenAI-enabled technology suite delivering actionable insights and better decisions throughout the M&A lifecycle

AI is enabling industry players to transform their end-to-end transaction strategies – from deal sourcing to due diligence to post-merger integration. The AI-powered suite of Edge platforms is evolving traditional deal processes and helping executives be more efficient and effective in their dealmaking.

Capital Edge

This platform enables EY, client and third-party teams to create efficiencies and to help deliver better outcomes across all aspects of the transaction and transformation lifecycle, including critical post-merger integration projects. Through the power of more than 30 apps, buyers and sellers have access to the latest tools leveraging AI and methods for a wide range of activities with real-time global collaboration in a live deal or post-deal scenario. This includes scenario modeling, forecasting, financial and commercial planning, as well as supporting project management, advanced analytics and data accelerators.

Diligence Edge

This platform utilizes automation and AI to surface insights and improve M&A diligence processes. Bringing together diverse data sources – from financial data direct from ERP platforms to social media analytics – it helps enable M&A practitioners to take a big-picture view of the due diligence deal process. Embedded AI-trained tools provide deeper diligence insights more rapidly for our practitioners and EY clients, for example, in areas such as data extraction from legal contracts and interrogation of analytics.

Competitive Edge

The platform helps companies to rapidly scan for opportunities and understand competitive activities. It utilizes AI to identify startup disruption within industry ecosystems, while mapping competitor investment flows and monitoring distressed asset opportunities. By analyzing vast amounts of data from financial statements, market trends, internal and external structured and unstructured data sources, AI swiftly helps uncover insights that might have gone unnoticed and narrows down potential targets.

The better the question. The better the answer.
The better the world works.
